The U.S. Conference of Mayors that met in Miami recently took no policy stand on busing as a desegregation tool. So wide-spread is the disagreement among the mayors that they dared not take a stand on that explosive issue.

And the National League of Cities, which met also in Miami at the same time time drafted an education policy at its convention which says only that disruptions brought about by desegregation attempts should be the concern of school officials and the business community as well as of school boards. It does not mention either "mayors" or "busing."

Both Democratic and Republican caucuses at the league's convention declined to adopt resolutions explicitly discussing busing despite efforts to do so in both groups. The league represents 15,000 cities.

Many city officials have said over the last six years that they shouldn't get involved because it is an issue for independent school boards, whether elected or appointed.

These arguments make sense. If politicians would not inject their distorted thinking in the busing issue, there would be no lingering controversy about the matter. Both Nixon and Ford have contributed their share to the resistance against busing. They helped create the climate in which dissenters felt morally justified to disobey the law. RIGHT ON!

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED FOR HOMESTEAD PROGRAM

Tacoma families will be able to apply for ownership of 17 vacant homes in the Hilltop and Portland Avenue areas beginning Jan. 19.

Applications will be accepted through February 27 by the Tacoma Housing Authority. The Homestead program, administered jointly by the city's Community Development Department and the Housing Authority, will allow families or individuals to become home owners for the cost of the repairs required by the city's minimum housing code.

The families selected for the program must make repairs required for health and safety prior to moving into the homes. Then the families must make the code repairs and live in the home for three years. After fulfilling the requirements, the title for the home is transferred to the family.

Community Development will assist the families make the required repairs through 3 percent interest loans with a maximum of 20 years to repay.

Applicants must make less than $13,150 to qualify for the program. Priority will be given, in descending order, to households consisting of 1. husband, wife and children, 2. single parent with children, 3. married couple without children, 4. single adults with children, 5. single adults.

If two or more equally qualified persons apply for the same home, the selection will be made by lots.

For additional information call the Tacoma Housing Authority at 572-4933 or at 627-5964 to apply for the program.

General Daniel James, Jr. Presents 318th FIS With Hughes Trophy

In a recent ceremony at McChord Air Force Base, General Daniel James Jr., Commander of the North American Air Defense Command presented the 1975 Hughes Trophy, sponsored by the Hughes Aircraft Company, to members of the 318th Fighter Interceptor Squardon (FIS).

The Hughes Achievement Award is designed to honor the outstanding United States Air Force fighter squadron with the mission of air defense.

Some of the criteria used in judging the 318th as this year's winner was its performance during air to air interceptor training missions, support of the Airborne Warning and Control System flight test program, air refueling proficiency, safety record, air combat maneuvers, superior maintenance achievements, and several deployments in support of worldwide mobility commitments.

The Vice President and General Manager of the Hughes Aircraft Company, in a letter to Major General James A. Young, commander of the 25th NORAD Region, stated that, "On behalf of the Hughes Aircraft Company, I wish to extend sincere congratulations to you and to the commander, officers and men of the 318th FIS in being selected as the 1975 winner of the Hughes achievement award. Their outstanding accomplishments in winning this award in world-wide competition exemplifies to the highest degree the proficiency maintained by this fine squadron."

Nominees for the Hughes Trophy included units from TAC, PACAF, USAFE, ADC, AAC and the ANG.

The 318th, presently commanded by Lt. Col. Lawrence Haight, had had many accomplishments since the squadron was activited in 1942. Action over Sardinia in 1943 won the 318th the Presidential Unit Citation when its pilots, flying P-40 Warhawks, destroyed 21 enemy aircraft. In 1963, the 318th won the F-106 division of the "William Tell" weapons meet. In 1968, the squadron deployed to Osan Air Base, Korea, with 18 aircraft - the first time the F-106 was deployed outside of North America. During that same year, the 318th was awarded the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award for exceptionally meritorious achievement in support of military operations. The squadron was awarded the Aerospace Defense Command "A" Award in 1972 and another Air Force Outstanding Unit Award in 1973.

General Daniel James, Jr., who presented the award, is Commander in Chief, North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), a bi-national military command consisting of United States and Canadian air defense forces. Headquarters for HORAD is Ent Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, Colo. General James also serves as Commander in Chief, United States Air Force Aerospace Defense Command (ADCOM), the United States element of HORAD. In these dual capacities, General James has operational command of all United States and Canadian strategic aerospace defense forces. He is responsible for surveillance and air defense of North American airspace and for providing warning and assessment of hostile attack on the continent from bombers or missiles.

Jackson Proposes $Billion School Plan to End Busing

WASHINGTON, D.C.-CNS)--Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) became the first of 13 major presidential candidates to issue a definitive statement on school busing this year when he called for a billion dollar voluntary desegregation program to replace court ordered integration.

Jackson announced at the beginning of the year that he will introduce legislation this month to extend the Desegregation Assistance Program, authorizing $1 billion for the next two years to help local communities develop and implement school desegration plans.

Jackson's bill will"

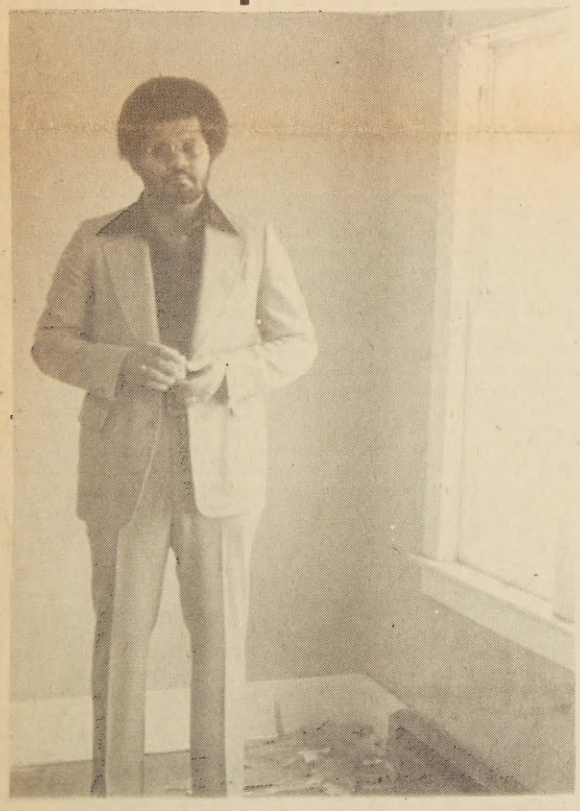
* Establish special three-judge courts for busing cases, denying individual judges the authority to order or extend school busing plans.
* Require the Court to determine the actual effects busing would have on the quality of education in each school district and demonstrate that other desegregation remedies would not be effective; and
* Limit busing orders to remedying specific instances of segregation. Courts would not be permitted to extend busing orders to areas where the existance of segregation had not been shown.

The proposed legislation was included in a detailed position paper on "Educational Quality and School Desegregation," released by Jackson's office last Tuesday. The Democratic candidate said his position will "end the school busing controversy and renew a national focus on the central concern--the education of our children."

He added: "We have moved in busing decrees from the effort to dismantle dual school systems--clearly compelled by the Constitution--to a totally different undertaking: a form of social engineering and rigid mathematical race-balancing which the Constitution does not contemplate."

Based on the evidence so far available, Jackson said, busing in large cities has neither improved the levels of academic achievement for minority children nor broken down artificial social and racial barriers caused by school segregation.

Afro-American Cultural Center to Open



The building at 1119 South 17th Street may look like a haunted house today, but in a few weeks a new spirit will have revitalized the interior.

The old residence will be the home of Tacoma's new African-American Cultural Center. The center received preliminary funding from the Metropolitan Development Council through the minority affairs office at Tacoma Community College.

Ron Wilson, formerly an army counselor, was hired to spearhead the project. Now the building has been leased and Wilson is waiting for promised donations of furnishings and assistance to arrive.

Once the building is refurbished, it will house facilities for counseling, a library, display areas and classroom space, Wilson hopes.

Phone number at the center is 756-5195.

Tacoma Media Action Council to Meet

The'Tacomacs' held their regular meeting January 21. Members present were Chairperson Harriett Williams; co-chairperson Reggie Fernander; secretary Sandia Booth; coordinator Amy Wong; also Nola Spice, Judie Fortier, and Roger O. Laskey of the Tacoma FACTS News.

REPORT: The pre-Christmas Eve dance that was sponsored by the Tacomacs was a fund-raising dance. The committee reported it was a real success--thanks to all who came and contributed, and the fine music of "Flavor" band.

Funds from that dance and from other affairs are used for the financial support of the Tacomac's Council. Such as a $100 contribution to the national group; dues to the National Black Media Coalition in Rochester, New York; information, printed communication, and related materials.

This group has been instrumental in helping the Council in many ways. Chairperson Harriett Williams told the Council that we were ahead of many Action Councils because we are unique in our membership. We are united in the sense that we have all races represented on the council.

The Chairperson encourages all to come out and participate. Our next meeting is February 4 at 3:00 p.m., 1311 So. 'M' Street Community House.

Utilities Off, On Again On K-Street

The red tape has been cut, and now the utility payment service which was discontinued after some 30 years is back in service once more. But this time at a different location.

You can find the payment window in the rear of the building of Sid's Racquets, Balls & Things, 1122 South 'K' Street.

By the time this article appears in THE FACTS, full service will be offered at that location. This means that the community will once again have a convenient place to pay its phone bills, gas bills, buy money orders, etc.

For more information about this nearby service please call 272-1029.

Personal Property Division of Assessor's Office Moves to Valu-Mart Building

The Personal Property Division of the Pierce County Assessor's Office has moved its offices from Old Remann Hall to the Valu-Mart building at 2401 South 35th Street, Tacoma. They are the first of three separately-located divisions within the Assessor's office to make the move to the old Valu-Mart building. The building, recently purchased by Pierce County, will eventually house the Main Office of the Assessor, now located in the County-Cit6 building and the Appraisal Division, currently operating out of the Lakewood Center on Bridgeport Way. By July 1, 1976, property owners in Pierce County should have one-stop service at the new location.

The Personal Property division, closed temporarily by the move, opened for business as usual 8:30 Tuesday morning. Normal business hours for the Assessor's office are from 8:30 to 4:30 weekdays. The old telephone number for Personal Property, 593-4697, made the move with the department and will remain the same.

Ken Johnston, Pierce County Assessor, says he's looking forward to getting his departments together in one place. "Maintaining offices at three separate locations has made communications difficult within the office and has generated a lot of paper-shuffling between departments. Right now, it's possible that a taxpayer might have to drive 15 miles and visit three different offices just to take care of business. We're all looking forward to being in one place."

No Merger

'K' STREET BOOSTERS AND 'K' STREET DIST. IMPROVEMENT ASSOC.

The two above mentioned organizations seem to be at odds on issues and objectives. They have been meeting in an attempt to find a solution to the problems of merging into just one organization.

According to those who attended the last meeting, the proceedings appeared to be rather strange. Members of both clubs could not understand why this should be.

After that meeting, the 'Ad Hoc Citizens Committee' decided to drop that name. The people voted in a new name--the "K' Street District Improvement Association" (KDIA). Their area of concern will be from Sprague St. to Tacoma Avenue South, Division to 27th Street South.

Another meeting will be held on February 10 to elect officers--time and place to be announced at a later date.

There also will be another meeting with Police Chief Lyle Smith regarding some matters of concern with his office. Read the FACTS and stay informed.

Many Washington taxpayers will not be able to receive early refunds this year unless they receive their W-2 Forms from their employers soon.

IRS District Director Michael Sassi today reminded employers that next Saturday, January 31, is the last day to have completed W-2 Froms in the hands of their employees.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E--Employer's Tax Guide," available free from local IRS offices, contains additional information on the proper handling of W-2 forms.

Volunteer Program For Purdy Teatment Center for Women

Prospective volunteers are invited to an orientation meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 5, 1976 at Purdy Treatment Center for Women. Volunteer participation in the Center's activities is an important part of the total treatment program.

Purdy Treatment Center is the State correctional institution for women and is nationally known for its many innovative programs. It is located five miles north of the Tacoma Narrows Bridge on State Highway 16.

A colored slide show depicting programs at the Center will be presented. Volunteer activities will be discussed by Mrs. Eleanor Green, Community Resource Coordinator. Volunteers can aid programs which redirect institution residents toward responsible citizenship. Community understanding of the offender and correctional programs is vital to reduce recidivism (return to crime).

Volunteers are especially needed to assist residents in the Work/Training Release Program. A recent Federal ACTION Mini-Grant to the Community Involvement Program at the Center provides reimbursement for out-of-pocket expenses to volunteers aiding residents in finding employment, enrolling in training programs, keeping medical appointments, and making other community contacts directed toward resocialization.

Other volunteer activities include creative and culinary arts, music, tutoring, library service, clinic assistance, typing, filing, research, clothing room assistance, recreation and the Sponsor Program. Sponsors are women from the community who werve as friends to residents on a one-to-one basis.

Those who wish to attend should call Mrs. Green at Purdy Treatment Center.

Something to Think About

Rearing Children By the Government Or By Parents?

There is before the Congress of the United States legislation known as:

THE CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICE ACT OF 1975
House of Representatives..... HB 2966
Senate..... S 626

Child Advocacy Clause

In the Congressional Record the bill is described:

"If, in the judgment of those who are in charge of such a program, the State by way of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, parents are not doing a good job, the advocate (a specialist appointed by the government) would enter the home and direct the education, even within the home. And if the parent would object, the authority of the home would, De Facto, be transferred to those advocated."

The Charter of Children's Rights of the National Council of Civil Liberties is becoming part of the Child Development Act. Following are four (4) of the several items proposed in this Charter:

1. All children have the right of protection from and compensation for the consequences of any inadequacies in their home and backgrounds.
2. Children have the right to protection from any excessive claims made on them by their paretns or authority. (The question was asked by way of example, "What do you mean by the fact "excessive claim?" The example was given, "If the mother or father asked the child to take the garbage out and the child doesn't want to, the parents have no right to insist upon it.")
3. Children have the right to freedom from religious or political indoctrination. This means parents could not insist on children attending Church or Sunday School or Synagogue. It also means the parent could be reported to authorities for expressing himself in his own home before his own children regarding politics and religion, if the child reported this to the authorities.
4. Children shall have the freedom to make complaints about teachers, parents, and others without fear of reprisals.

This bill passed both houses in 1971 and was vetoed by President Richard Nixon with the following remark: This bill would weaken the American family by committing the vase moral authority of the National Government to the side of communal approaches to child-rearing over and against the family-oriented approach.

The Congressional Record states concerning this bill:

"The intent of this bill is for the government to be responsible....for the nutritional interests of your child, and for all psychological interests of your child."

"What is at issue is whether the parent shall continue to have the right to form the character of the children or whether the State, with all its power and magnitude, shall be given the decisive tools and techniques for forming the young lives of the children of this country."

"As a matter of the child's right, the Government shall exert control over the family because we have recognized that the child is not the care of the parents, but the care of the State. We recognize further, that not parental, but communal form of upbringing have an unquestionable superiority over all other forms. Furthermore, there is serious question that maybe we cannot trust the family to prepare young children in this country for this new kind of world which is emerging."

Keep Your Eyes in Fashion Focus

The woman who dares to be different may opt for this outsize angular Oscar de la Renta frame from American Optical. Sculptured to perfection in Blue Fade, Wine Fade and Honey Fade....in a look that manages to be daring and feminine at the same time.

Crisp, clean, well-defined lines highlight this Oscar de la Renta frame design from American Optical. Styled with a slightly more angular appearance, in Apricot Swirl, Lilac Fade and luminescent Lavender Swirl...subtle tones that rival the colors of Nature and flatter a woman's face.

You and millions of other American women wear glasses. If you're wearing them now, go to the nearest mirror and take a look at them. A good look.

When is the last time you changed your frames? Not your prescription. Your frames?

You buy new shoes to accessorize new outfits. New hats or handbags. New jewelry. And then you blow the whole effect by wearing the same old glasses in the same old frames.

Why? Because you probably don't think of your glasses as accessories. But they are..... as much as any other item that goes into your wardrobe. And no less a fashion authority than award-winning American designer Oscar de la Renta subscribes to that belief.

Because he believes that something that covers a third of a woman's face (her glasses do) should be given the same attention as every other accessory she wears, Oscar de la Renta has designed a Signature Collection of prescription eyeglass frames exclusively for American Optical Corporation and you. And the frames bear the unmistakable de la Renta stamp of elegance, simplicity of line and subtle color.

Tacoma FACTS Visitors

By Roger O. Laskey

THE TACOMA FACTS had some very important people stop by our office this week. (But just to set the record straight, all people are important to THE FACTS.) Our visitors were James Irby, Illustrious Potentate, Yemen Temple #152, A.E.A.O.N.M.S. The other guest was a student, Kathy Rubida from Fort Steilacoom Community College, who was gathering material for an advertising project. We have had other guests, but this is the first time we have attempted to give recognition. The next time you are in, leave us your name and a bit of information.

DANCE HALL notice: "The management reserves the right to exclude any lady they think proper."

Community, Friends and Neighbors

By Roger O. Laskey

Ray Giles, a long time community worker and former assistant director for Ujamma Recreation and Culture Center, is still involved with the development of recreation and sports in our community. I met Ray a few weeks ago and I asked him what he had been doing, since I had not seen him in a long time. He said he has been working with his grandfather and getting his softball team re-organized for 1976. He gave me a rundown of his team. It consists entirely of ladies, ages 18 years and over. Their name is Brown Sugar. They've been playing for five years and were runners-up last year for the Championship. They are being coached by Giles and Thomas Allen. Ray also said they were supported in the past by the Caballaros Club, Smitty Burger and Harold Myers Drugs. This year they are also looking for some financial support to purchase warm-ups, uniforms and equipment.

I have known Ray for years. He was a key organizer in the formation of the first Black Expo in Tacoma. Anyone reading this column who would like to contribute to this worthy cause - anonymously if you prefer - may call the TACOMA FACTS Newspaper, 627-5597 and ask for Roger O. Laskey. Ray, I can feel help is on its way.

Jimmy Williams, a Tacoma resident and noted entertainer, M.C. and dancer has just returned from a road trip that took him to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Texas. He said to be able to sustain the road one must be together. Brothers in Texas are doing their thang but they are not ready, and don't want to leave. He also ran into the group YOUNG HEARTS. Jimmy is interested in getting some new talent to come to the Northwest.

NOTE: If you have out-of-town guests or are in town, give us a call. THE FACTS always wants to meet people.

Entertainment Review

By Roger O. Laskey

AMVETS HALL, 74th and So. Tacoma Way in Tacoma, is noted for its BUMP, HUMP and HUSTLE DANCE CONTESTS. Coming your way this Friday, January 30, the band you've all been waiting for, COLD, BOLD & TOGETHER, a Tricap recording group. They have played Canada and Las Vegas. Also coming is HOT ICE, on February 6th and 7th, along with Tacoma's own READYMADE FAMILY.

Last week the fans saw one of its own, FRESH, who did a dynamite set. They will be leaving for Pullman, Washington to perform at Washington State University on February 13th. The Minority Musicians and Entertainers Association is trying to bring a different band each time, but we need your continued support. This is a young people's program.

READYMADE FAMILY played to a beautiful Foss High School formal Saturday at the 565 Club Broadway. They all had a wonderful time. SPICE OF LIFE is getting it together. They will be coming your way again soon. I have a list of musicians who want to get something started. You may call or stop by and pick up their names and phone numbers.

Last Saturday's Dance Contest was won by Sandy Spiegner of Clover Park Vocational School and Perry M. McKinnon of Lincoln School.
